Press Release

New Jersey Blaze Brings NPSL Soccer to Central Jersey

October 1, 2010 — Morris Plains, NJ

The New Jersey Soccer Group is excited to announce the New Jersey Blaze as an expansion team of the National Premier Soccer League (NPSL) for the 2010 season. The NPSL is an independent national league representing the highest level of men's amateur soccer in the United States. The Blaze will represent Central New Jersey in the East Division of the NPSL with home field Rowland Park in South Brunswick.

The 2010 team will include many players with elite high level experience at the collegiate level and abroad, along with local talent from South Brunswick and the surrounding communities.

The Blaze's head coach, Rob Napier, is looking forward to the team's inaugural season. "The Blaze represents a fantastic opportunity for the people of South Brunswick and the surrounding area to support a high level team on their doorstep. We know there are many talented players from central Jersey and the Blaze will allow them to showcase their skills in a national league. I learned a lot from my two seasons with the Colonials and know what it takes to succeed at this level. Our target will be to reach the playoffs and although it will be a challenge, it's definitely an exciting one and we can look at the Erie Admirals who, in their first year, reached the National Final.

With Tom Worthington joining me as Assistant Coach, I am confident we have a strong coaching line-up which can put an exciting and successful team on the field. With Rowland Park as our home, we'll be looking for each game to be a real community event where the family can come along to support the Blaze and have a great time. I'm looking forward to the tryouts later this year and seeing the best soccer talent central Jersey has to offer."
